

Life Achievement Award

PRESENTED TO: GERALD H. ANDERSON

This year's life achievement award goes to Gerald H. Anderson, who was a co-founder of the American Society of Missiology. He has been the Director of the Overseas Ministries Study Center in New Haven, Connecticut, and the editor of the International Bulletin of Missionary Research. Gerald is the author of the Biographical Dictionary of Christian Missions, among many other books.

These are a few among many reasons that Gerald H. Anderson will receive the American Society of Missiology's 2011 Life Achievement Award.
